Our Story

The Carolina Collection is ideal for Residential and Commercial use, offering exceptional quality, strength, and durability. It's design flexibility gives it appeal & responsiveness to trends in how people work, study & game.

Workplace trends have changed in recent years from where we work, how we work, and the type of computers and tech devices we use. The Carolina Collection was carefully and thoughtfully designed to accommodate not just current tech trends, but also those of the future.

Designed for more casual collaboration, modular desks that can be grouped, arranged and rearranged easily to fit your use and space.

Personalize-able - with tuck-away add-on's such as files that fit sleekly under desk, drawer kits, and shelf kits that provide ergonomic comfort for conventional computing. Plus, plenty of desk-top surface for laptops, tablets, iPads and smartphones.

For Residential and Commercial: Carolina Collection is as pleasing and functional in a residential environment as it is in a commercial one. It's clean, classic lines and natural finish add pleasing architectural design appeal in any room.

The ideal workplace is creative, artistic, and inspirational. Carolina Collection is this and much more. The use of real wood veneer inspires the warmth to design lines that clean and purely classic. Modularity gives it responsiveness to changing room layouts and use. With finished fronts and backs, desks and groups can be used easily and conveniently in wide open rooms without walls. Premium quality construction gives lasting durability and strength.

Everyone is using a lot of different kinds of technology. Carolina Collection's slightly raised hutches provide cord management that is sleek and non-destructive to desktop surfaces. In the past, you might have had just a computer on your desk. Now, you may be using a laptop, tablet and a smartphone. The Carolina Collection allows you to keep all your tech wires organized and out of the way without destroying your desktop.

Carolina Collection provides versatility in design and purpose for general and specific use.

Carolina Collection use of natural materials provides a sensual and soothing work environment.

Our company is working to show that we value the environment. Furniture and packaging with low chemical emissions made from recyclable material is one way to show this corporate value.

VRUSH CORPORATE STRATEGY

The business world is becoming increasingly competitive everyday. To survive, companies are merging with or acquiring other companies, or forming close alliances when strategically and mutually beneficial. VRUSH is focused on forming alliances with progressive, forward thinking companies whose business plans call for pursuing tighter, more meaningful relationships with select companies. In truly joining forces with its alliances, together the companies form a "team" that work together to all value and reduce cost. These types of business alliances will mean the difference between success and failure in the new millennium.

We call this "The Millennium Initiative".

A few of the advantages of the Initiative are:

- Increased service level, to our business alliances and their customers
- Cost and expense reductions from improved planning and scheduling, achieved by working closely with our alliances to understand and respond to their needs
- Information system enhancement and retrieval, including order status, item movement, and 100% fill rates. Increased flexibility to handle order "spikes"
- Increased use of common CAD design systems, with Internet background to significantly reduce the lead time and cost on prototype and new product development and procedures.
- Conceptualize and provide CAD drawings of design concepts before actual construction and implementation.

With the volume that comes from dedicated, mutually respectful alliances, VRUSH can implement:

- Dedicated equipment
- Dedicated material storage
- Dedicated workers
- Dedicated Management & Quality Control
- Dedicated Purchasing & Replenishment
- Ultimate savings in Cost, passed along to our Customers
